To the Class of 1993,

When we hear the phrase "The Competitive Edge" we are usually reminded of sporting events where one team may have a distinct advantage because they are playing on their home field or home court. That advantage, of course, is nothing mysterious since the home team has reaped the benefit of constant practice or training in the environment in which the game is played. In any endeavor or activity familiarity always provides a distinct advantage.

So it is that we say that vocational graduates always enjoy the competitive edge in whatever your choice of career may be because, unlike many other high school graduates, you are very familiar with the work environment. Not only have you attained the necessary skill to do whatever your job demands but additionally you have learned well how to succeed and progress in the workplace. The realization that one must follow directions, subscribe to rules and regulations, be respectful to others, maintain good attendance and respond promptly are habits that you have developed after four years of practical experience at Tri-County.

The great majority of your competitors in the workplace will not have had that advantage and will need to take valuable time to master practical skills and to practice favorable on-the-job behaviors. They will not enjoy the advantage that you have because, until graduation, their learning had been strictly theoretical and the workplace will be new to them. Whereas, your familiarity with the entire scope of the work environment makes it your home court - and therein lies the competitive edge - please use it to your advantage.

Congratulations and on behalf of all faculty and staff at Tri-County - thank you for having been with us.

Sincerely,

John M. Jones

To The Class of 1993:

Many of you now feel that your journey is over; your education is complete. While it is true that you now have the skills to go forward with your life's work, your education is far from complete.

This yearbook chronicles your senior year and will be a source of memories in the years ahead. As you continue to learn through either experience or formal education, please take the time to look back on your years at Tri-County and reflect upon the lessons learned here.

I hope that you currently are proud of your school and will carry that pride into your adult life. You have had the benefit of many dedicated teachers and have had access to an opportunity to learn which is unmatched in most students' experience. Now you must take responsibility to see that you use your skills and talents to your own benefit and for the sake of others. Good luck.

Yours truly,

Peter H. Rickard
Principal

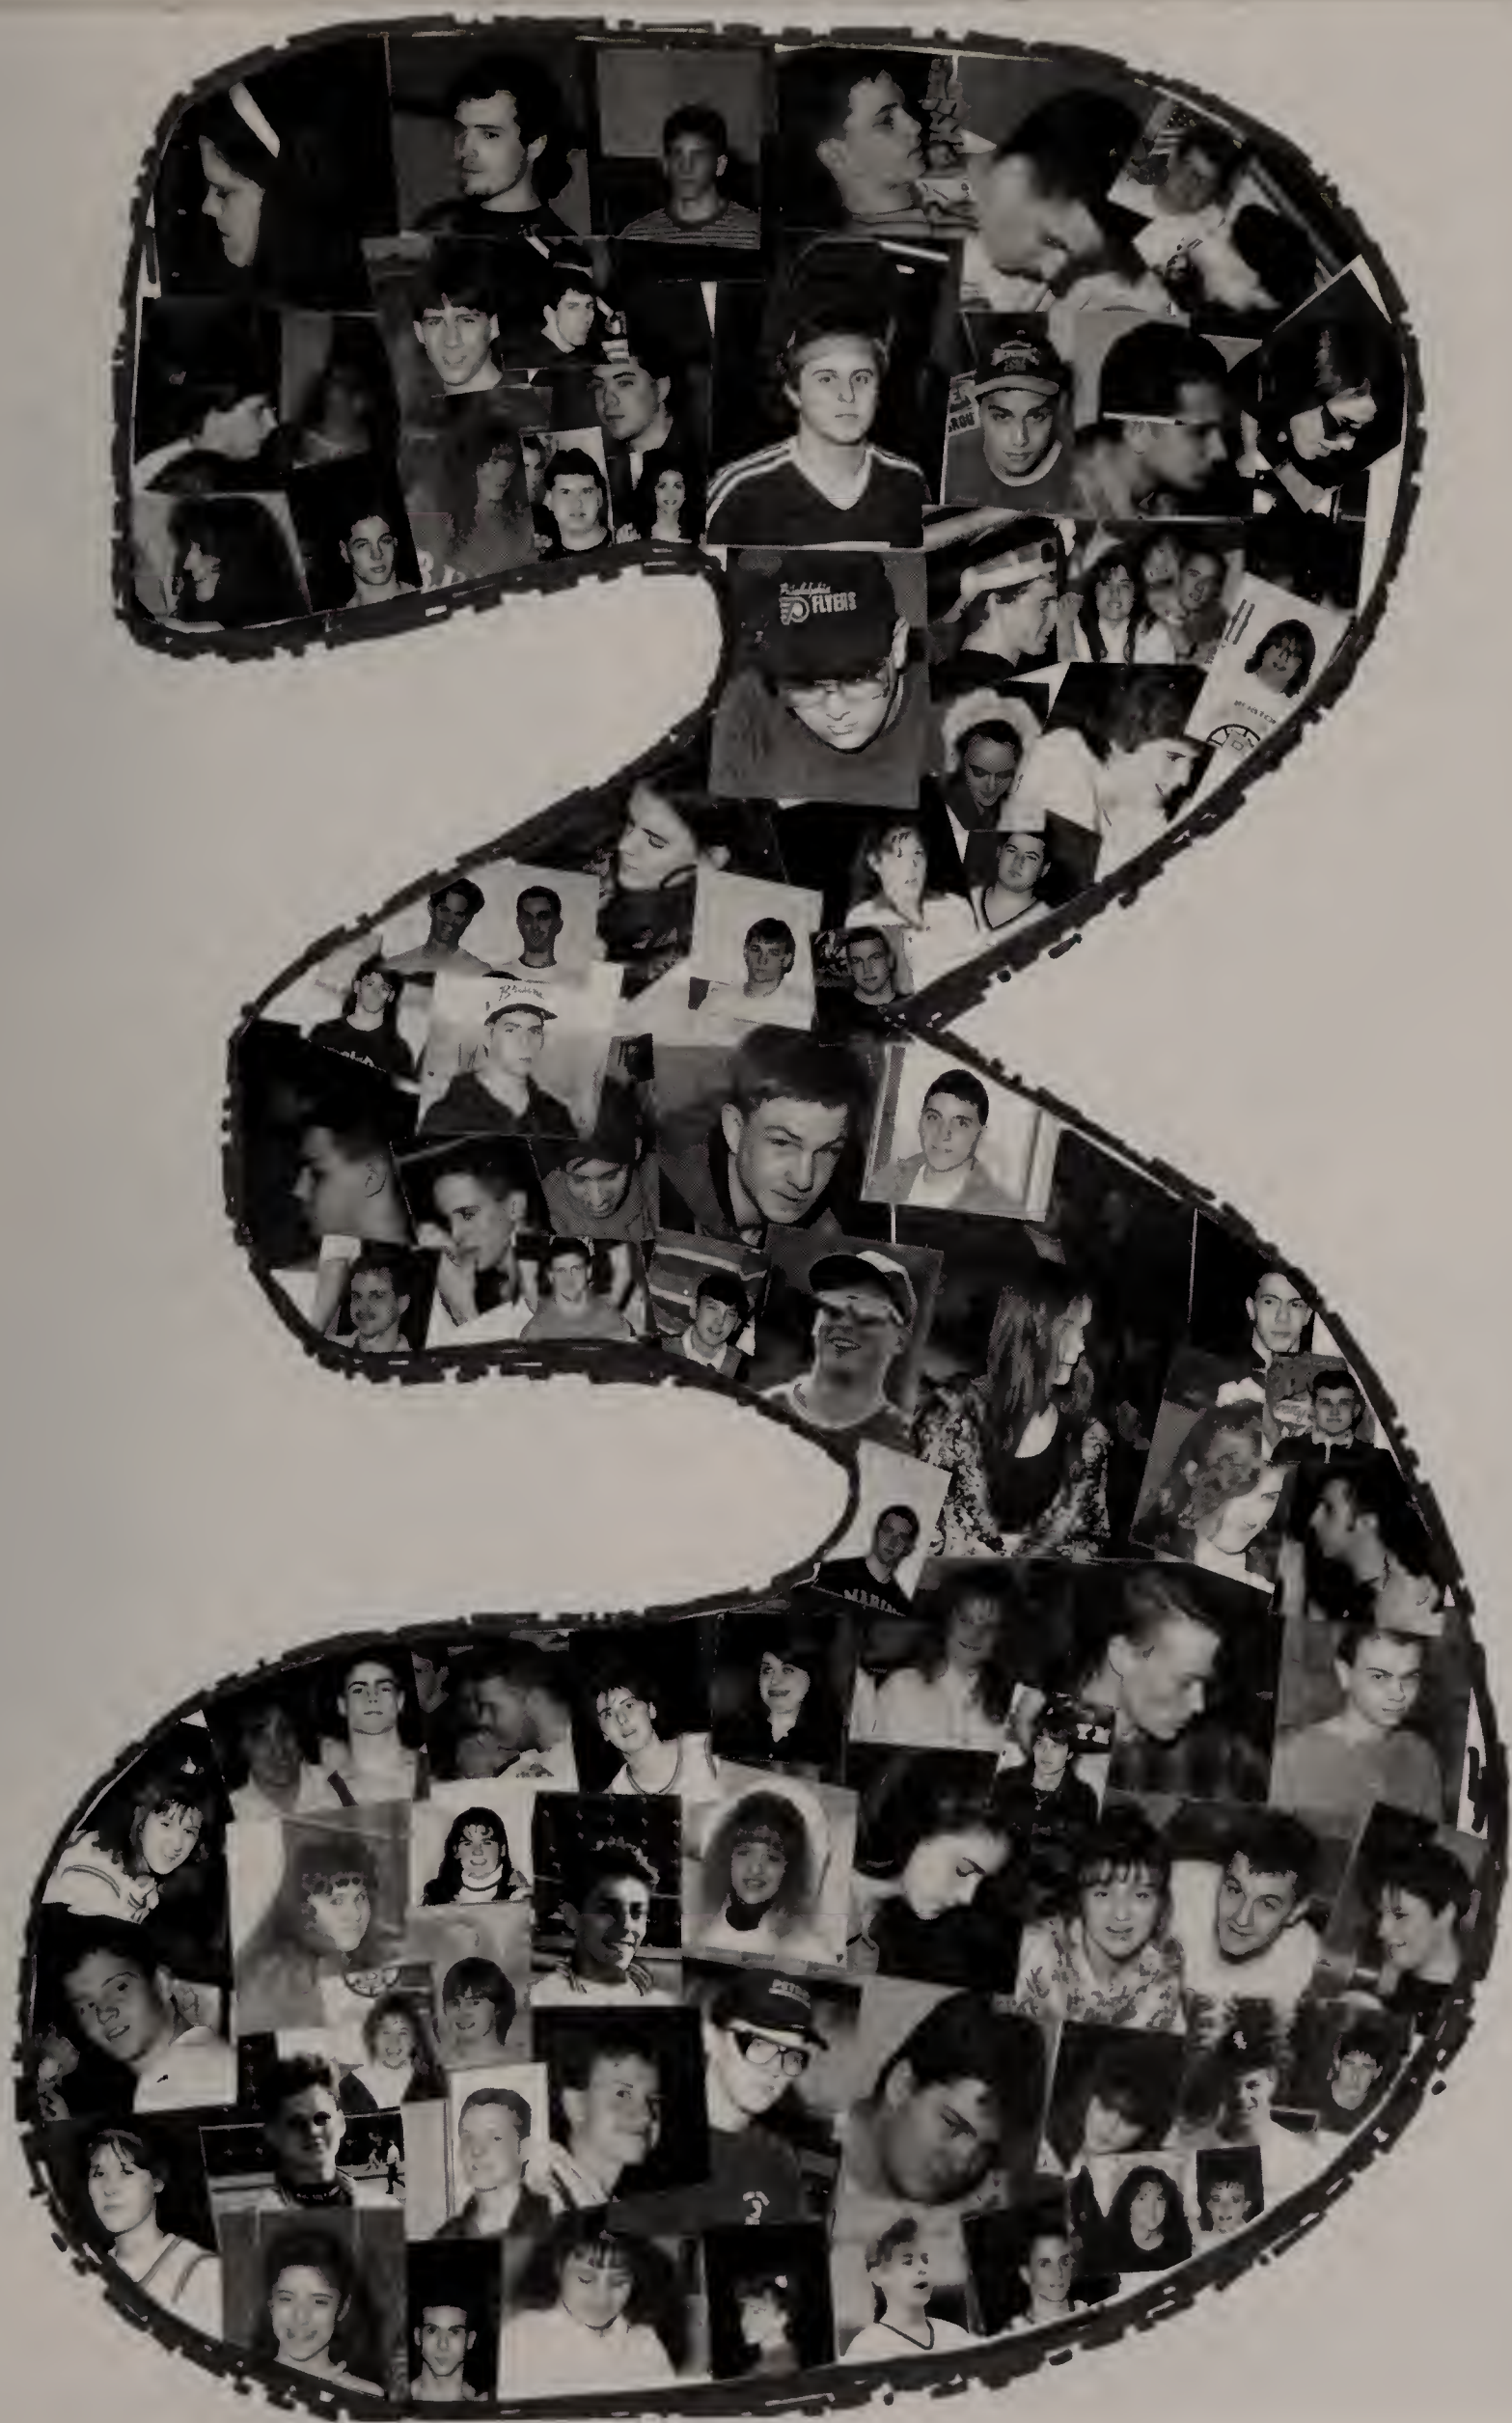
High school are the first years you'll remember for the rest of your life. No matter what you learn, who you meet, where you go, you'll never find another place like it. The friends you make, the love you find will always be kept in your memory.



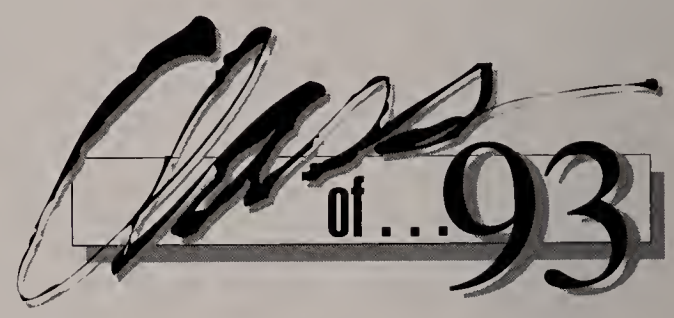
FLYERS

YOUNG AND INNOCENT

There's an echo in the wind,
Makes me wonder where I've been,
All the years I've left behind,
Faded pictures in my mind.

Now it's time for me to see,
It's not as easy as it used to be.
Though maybe yesterday is gone,
The things we did were never wrong.

I want that feeling back again,
So we can be young and innocent,
Where nothing matters but the moment we were in,
Lets shut our eyes and pretend,
and maybe once again,
We can be young and innocent.



FOR JUST A MOMENT

We laughed until we had to cry,
We loved down to our last good-bye,
We were the best we'll ever be,
We chased that dream we never found,
We sometimes let each other down,
Time goes on, people touch,
And then they're gone,
But you and I will never be again,
Like we were then.

Someday, When we all reminisce,
We'll say there wasn't too much we missed,
And through the tears,
We'll smile when we recall,
We had it all,
For just a moment.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Two hundred and twenty-four students and guests danced the night away at the Tri-County Junior -Senior Prom May 14 at the Sheraton in Milford. The theme "Wonderful Tonight," inspired by the Eric Clapton record, described the evening, promgoers agreed.

William Bucci, junior class adviser, said, "It was the best prom I have ever attended." It began at 6:30 p.m., and 90 percent of the kids arrived closer to 6 p.m., and stayed well after 11 p.m. The students and their guests danced, socialized, and had a good time. Their conduct was exemplary.

Elected to the Junior Class Court were Alice Page, queen; Carrie Regan, Missy LaCroix, Michael Jacobson, king; Jay Young, and Christopher Auclair.

Named to the Senior Class Court were Kelly Cooper, queen; Mindy Cantalupo, Sheri Moore; Josh Wells, king; Marc Chabot, and John Allen.

Adding to the festivities was the bubble machine provided by the disc jockey Jeff Mulligan, which sent bubbles wafting on high as music filled the air. Those attending were given a prom souvenir, a glass pedestal candle holder, complete with candle, decorated with a blue Tri-County Prom 1993 emblem, designed by Lynn Stabille

Valedictory speech

Joshua T. Wells

Members of the school committee, Mr. Jones, Mr. Rickard, honored guests, other members of the administration and faculty, parents, friends, and of course, fellow students of the class of 1993.

As we ventured from our respective home towns in order to attend Tri-County, we were faced with a challenge, the challenge of overcoming existing social differences. Difference in dress, talk, attitude, and concepts of life were, without a doubt, apparent.

Yet, as time passed, changes took place in order for us to overcome these obstacles. Through patience, we adopted a tolerance and an acceptance towards those who socially contrasted with ourselves. Breaking these collective barriers gave us the opportunity to free our minds from the pressures of the society of high school and concentrate on developing other traits. To be more specific, I'm proud to say, that in our time at Tri-County, we have learned how to apply what we know and to form opinions rationally.

Well, today, we leave Tri-County, a once foreign, but now common ground. In doing so, we take with us all that we have acquired: tolerance, patience, acceptance, and most importantly, the freedom to judge with a open mind.

With all of these traits, we move on, into the future. We will find use for them as we come across other social barriers, barriers provided from our office, on the job site, in the classroom, or wherever else our paths lead. The point is, that we will take a part in tearing away at attitudes that divide people because of their social differences, so that our minds will again be free, and able to concentrate on our professional tasks. Unfortunately though, in order to improve today's world, we must do more than have a open mind; we must voice our opinions. By doing so, we take responsibility for our future and for the future of the world. Through verbal displays of good judgement, we will be the leaders of tomorrow and make a difference for the better.

We can overcome prejudice, racism, hatred, violence, or whatever problems we may face. It is just a matter of speaking up in defense of what's right.

I want to leave you with this note. Don't let life pass you by. Instead, you should advance, take a step forward. Express your feelings, and let your opinions be known. Take a stand, not only for yourself, but for the world you live in.

Thank You and good luck.

Speech of the President of the class of 1993

Kelly Cooper

Members of the school committee, Mr. Jones, Mr. Rickard, other members of the administration and faculty, parents, relatives, and most importantly, you, my friends and fellow members of the class of 1993.

My father once told me that if you put your best effort into something, you will succeed. I believe this is true. Working with small children in the shop and in the day care center however, has shown me clearly that sometimes, even when you do your best, success doesn't always come with the first, the second or even the third try.

Day after day, the little ones come in, select the same set of building blocks and really concentrate on creating the best wall, or the biggest house, or the most beautiful castle - only to have their masterpiece collapse because they used pieces that didn't quite fit, or because they tried to build on a foundation that wasn't strong enough.

On another level, I felt our class also shows the truth of my father's words. We have put forth our best efforts over our years at Tri-County, but in some areas, at the end of a season, or a class, or a competition, we have had to "put our building blocks away", so to speak, and just like the little kids, we have had to start our building over again, with another teacher, another coach, another team. And we did. And so we, the class of 1993 have achieved much, because we have kept on trying.

Some of us have won awards and scholarships because we have excelled in our shops, as well as in speaking and writing. Beyond this, many members of our class have achieved other personal goals, such as earning co-op, and finding jobs where we didn't think there were any jobs to be found. We can also look around and see friends who have survived family tragedies, physical injuries, and serious illnesses. All of these accomplishments have taken responsibility and dedication, in a word, our best efforts.

Back in Child Care, one of the hardest lessons to teach little ones is that you can't always do things alone; sometimes, it takes several children helping each other, to make a sturdy bridge or a wonderful house; it is hard to learn that "ours" is just as important as "mine".

The class of 1993 has come to know this truth as well. While each of us has been able to strive for the personal achievements most meaningful to us, to do our own thing, as individuals, we have also realized that some tasks require a unit, a group, or a team. Many of the things we are proud of today have also been the result of teamwork, things that we can truly call "ours".

In sports, we have been an important part of the most successful athletic year in the history of the school - winning outright or winning a share of three league titles, and reaching the playoffs in several other sports. Besides, fourteen members of our class reached the state finals in both DECA and VICA, winning many medals.

Through this combination of group and personal challenges, we have learned at Tri-County that it is okay to be ourselves, to build our own castles and houses, but we also know that it is important to belong and to work together.

Today, we can relax and enjoy these great high school memories and moments. To say that we are ready to move forward is to say thank you to our teachers, coaches, counselors and especially our parents, for your patience and dedication. You have helped us build a solid foundation and keep it standing.

Tomorrow we take up a new challenge. We must use all that we have accomplished to lay a new foundation for the future and start the process all over again - figuring out how all we have done and known will help us to keep building the castles of our dreams and re-discovering who we are as individuals, as well as learning new ways to build bridges with others so that we can make a positive difference in their lives and together help build a better world.

Thank You.

Good bye and good luck.
